

Dr. Stephanie Schoss

Director at the HSG Executive School

Dr. Stephanie Schoss is a Director at the HSG Executive School and a founding Director of the Competence Center for Top Team Research at the HSG Research Institute of International Management. She is passionate about teaching at the university and is excited to pass on her knowledge to interested NEXT fellows.

Stephanie is inspired by a life-long learning philosophy and believes that when one achieves a certain level of mastery in one profession it is time to become a student again in another!

Consequently, she has always been living a portfolio career and besides her academic life, Stephanie has been an entrepreneur for 20 years and is currently still actively involved in two of her companies. Stephanie was recognised as Manager of the Year 2013 by Generation CEO. Besides her professional life, she is a passionate private, commercial and seaplane pilot and a dedicated mother of 4 children and 4 step children and lives part of the year in New Zealand with her family.
